

IN THE ABSTRACT:

A system to propel an air powered boat comprising means for propelling the air boat in any one of a forward, reverse and neutral turning direction having an engine powering a propeller in a single rotational direction; and means for securing the means for propelling to the air powered boat. The means for propelling includes means for rotating the propeller about a transverse horizontal axis through a 360 degree arc.